[Announcer]: He was born to parents who never finished high school. As a teenager his father died of cancer. But against those odds he graduated from college with high honors, earning a scholarship to USC Law School and becoming a respected prosecutor and judge. As a husband and as a father Don Chairez understands that justice isn't only about laws, but about lives. In the race for Supreme Court he's the only candidate who's presided over murder trials, had the duty of voting for the death penalty and signed search warrants at 3 O'clock in the morning.

The tests he faced early in life gave Don Chairez the courage to defend the rights of homeowners when the government was abusing the power of eminent domain. He led the way in amending The Constitution to make sure our property rights are sacred. If he's done this much so far in life imagine what Don Chairez will do for us on the Nevada Supreme Court. [PFB]: Citizens for Chairez
