

Beyond the Color Line?

Race, Representation, and Community in the New Century

Beyond the Color Line?

Race,
Representation, and Community in the
New Century

Edited by Alex Willingham

Brennan Center for Justice at NYU School of Law

EDITED BY

Alex Willingham

$17.95

CONTRIBUTORS:

Manley Elliott Banks, II

Harold M. Barnette

Michael L. Clemons

Kareem Crayton

Marilyn A. Davis

Rickey Hill

Byrdie A. Larkin

Jonathan Leib

Melissa Nobles

Dianne Pinderhughes

Brenda R. Reddix-Small

Marcella Washington

Gerald R. Webster

Alex Willingham

Hoda M. Zaki

FROM THE INTRODUCTION:

“By presenting new opportunities for the strengthening of minority voting rights, the new redistricting round will bring up a range of difficult questions about the significance of race, and the meaning of ‘community.’ . . . The papers collected here view the issues of race and redistricting through a number of lenses, from political to legal to cultural.”

To order,
visit www.brennancenter.org,
or call 212.998.6730.

BRENNAN CENTER FOR JUSTICE
AT NYU SCHOOL OF LAW